RGSPixel User's Guide

When you go to bread249.github.io/RGSPixel, you'll start on a white canvas with black selected as the default color.
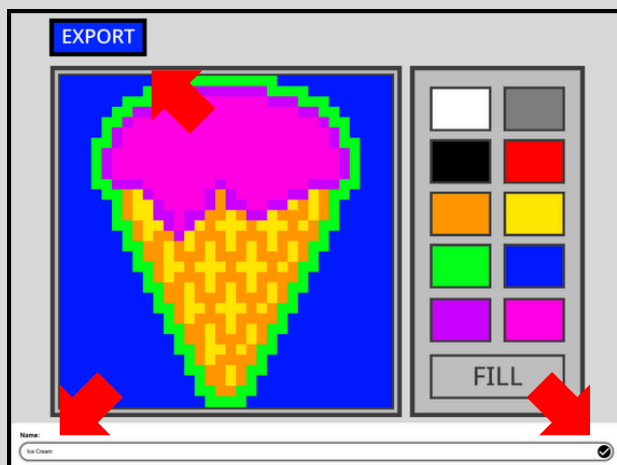

By clicking/holding the mouse, you can draw on the canvas.

Using the color palette to the right of the canvas, you can change the brush color.

Using the fill button will set the entire canvas to your selected color, regardless of what's on the canvas. Use with caution.
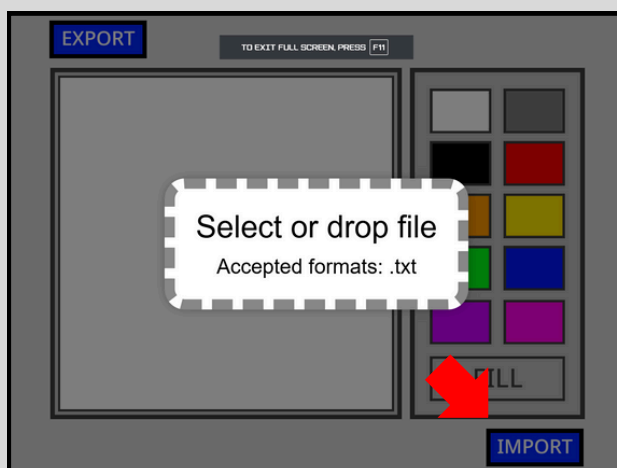

When you're done with your art, click 'Import', name your work, and click the black checkmark.
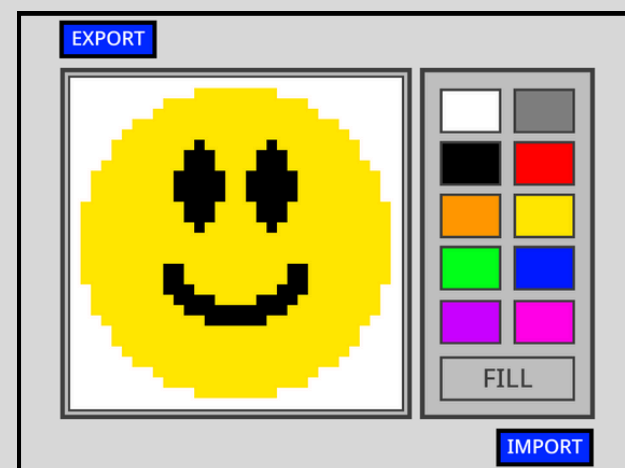

Doing this will download your art as a .txt file onto your computer.

These files are very light-weight (one kilobyte) and are great for sharing with friends.

To view your art again, click 'Import', then drag in your file or select by clicking. It will only accept .txt files in a specific format. Do not alter your file.

Congratulations! You now know how to use RGSPixel. Enjoy creating art and sharing it with your friends!
